FROM THE RABBI'S STUDY

This Veterans Day, TAI feels a particularly heavy loss

David Wirtschafter

The past 10 months have been a difficult year for TAI's remaining World War II veterans and their families. During that time, we bade farewell to five men who served during the war and went on to live well into their 90s or beyond.

Lester Waldman, James Levenson Sr., Harold Baker, Jerry Wurmser and Dan Yarus were remarkable men who answered the call of duty in wartime and the needs of their community in peacetime. They started or continued family businesses. They loved their wives and children, and they supported our congregation. Listening to the eulogized at their memorials and watching the flag being folded at their interments, one could not help but feel the mixed emotions of pride in all that they achieved and sadness in the reality of their departures. In fighting fascism, making the world safe for democracy and returning home to contribute to peace and prosperity, they truly were "the greatest generation."

At several points in the coming year, TAI and other houses of worship will be paying tribute to our veterans, both those who are gone and those who remain. On Nov. 9, the Sabbath immediately before Veterans Day, we

At TAI we have many reasons to give thanks, and here's a very important one

As Jews, we are called daily to be thankful for creation, but as the national holiday of Thanksgiving approaches, I am especially thankful for the comfort of family, food, hearth and home. I am grateful for a temple home that, like great Thanksgiving feasts, welcomes all, embraces differences and begins with gratitude. (And do we know food!)

Like a great Thanksgiving feast, temple operations are powered by many contributors but rest critically on a key player who is the logistical nerve center of the operation, someone who plans long before the guests arrive, is the last person standing when the feast is packed away, and still manages to greet everyone with a smile. On behalf of the temple board, I ask you to take some time during this Thanksgiving month to thank TAI Administrator Laura Creamer for all that she does to keep us running and make our house of worship a home.

Laura is the business end of the temple, overseeing everything from payroll, board support, building management and membership. In addition, she continues to do much of the work that was formerly handled by the temple secretary (In recognition of challenging financial times, TAI no longer has a full-time secretary.) Any given day sees a steady stream of foot traffic, phone calls, meetings and small fires.

We are grateful to you, Laura, for taking on the temple business operations during a time of great flux and for your flexibility in using available resources to refashion our front office. While being professional and dedicated to the tasks at hand, you never put business before people and somehow still manage to be the warm, welcoming, discreet presence at the heart of our operations as a sacred community.

As a temple community, we can thank Laura, not only with words or gestures but by appreciating the sheer volume of small and large tasks that make up her week. My own household of six can feel overwhelming; I don't know how Laura keeps tracks of all of us!

I wish the Creamer family and all of you a happy Thanksgiving and hope that the holiday finds you comforted, safe and well fed. I look forward to the winter months and gathering with you together in our temple home.

PARTY HELPS FULFILL BUBBE'S WISHES

The TAI social hall was full Oct. 21 for Bubbe's Four B's: Blues, Brews, BBQ and Bingo, a party for the congregation presented by the Janice Newman Fund. Janice, who died in 2017, left a bequest for TAI and designated that the money be used to have fun. Her motto, after all, was "Useless is the day in which there is no laughter." Janice's husband, Larry Newman, standing, spoke during the event, which was attended by about 150 people. Food for the party was from Blue Door Smokehouse, owned by Janice's son, Jeff.

will have a special service honoring those who served in any branch of our nation's military, including the Guard and Reserve. Music, prayers and the message for the evening will revolve around the theme of bravery, patriotism and loyalty. Similar themes will be addressed May 24, 2019, at our Memorial Day Family Shabbat, which will include a complimentary dinner before services. (Family Shabbats are not just for Religious School families;

Did you know ... ?

- More than 16 million Americans served during World War II; 550,000 were Jewish.
- As of 2017, WWII vets were dying at an average rate of 362 a day, according to the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs. Today, fewer than 450,000 survive.
- The oldest living WWII veteran – and oldest man in the U.S. – is Richard Overton, 112.

all are welcome to attend.) The third and final major event is once again bittersweet because one can only imagine what it would have meant to the five men named above. June 6 will be the 75th anniversary of D-Day, when Allied forces stormed the beaches of Normandy, heralding a huge turning point in the war and the beginning of the end for the Third Reich. A gathering at Central Christian Church takes place each year at noon on the anniversary of D-Day, and plans are underway to make the 75th particularly meaningful. We plan to show the recent documentary "GI Jews," based on the book of the same by Deborah Dash Moore, at an adult education night before the June 6 gathering.

Of course, memory is not enough, and no words can sufficiently recognize the sacrifices our soldiers and veterans have made and continue to make. We need to remain engaged on mental health and other core veterans' benefits, including education, housing, employment and debt relief. We owe those who served and their families no less.

Meet our new members

The Bronner family

Sarah and Jonathan Bronner are pleased to become members of Temple Adath Israel. Sarah is from Morganton, N.C., near Asheville, and Jonathan is from Louisville. They moved to Lexington from Charlotte, N.C., five years ago when Jonathan accepted a position with the University of Kentucky's Emergency Medicine Department. He is currently associate program director of the Emergency Medicine Residency Program, 3rd Year Medical Student Clerkship Director and an attending physician there. Sarah has a background in human resources and business communications in the corporate and university setting.

They stay busy with their 7-year-old daughter Ariana (Ari) and 5-year-old son Levi. In their free time, they enjoy canoeing, hiking and traveling together. Ari and Levi have increasingly become more interested in their Jewish background after attending Gan Shalom Preschool. They also recently attended Camp Shalom and are enrolled in Religious School at TAI.

Sarah and Jonathan are excited to become involved in an engaging, diverse community that celebrates faith, and they look forward to meeting new friends and establishing themselves in the Lexington community.

Dr. Lindsey Waldman Engel, who grew up at TAI, and her husband, Brad Engel, welcomed son Evan Lewis Engel on Aug. 5.

Evan's grandparents are Randy and Marianne Waldman, and his great-grandmother is Ida Waldman. The Engels live in Madison, Wis., where Lindsey is a resident in training at the University of Wisconsin.

Congregants Pamila Tabacnic and Jancee Wright were married Oct. 7 at TAI.

Hadassah offers perpetual yahrzeits in Israel

Under Hadassah's Perpetual Yahrzeit Program, loved ones are remembered each year, in perpetuity, on the Hebrew date of death with a recitation of Kaddish in the Fannie and Maxwell Abbell Synagogue at Hadassah's hospital in Ein Kerem, Jerusalem. The synagogue is home to the famed stained glass windows by Marc Chagall that depict the deathbed blessings Jacob bestowed on each of his 12 sons, who became the founders of the 12 Tribes of Israel.

The Chagall windows in Jerusalem's Abbell Synagogue

Each year, prior to the Yahrzeit date, designated family members will receive a notice providing the English date of observance.

Hadassah also offers an Enhanced Yahrzeit Program for those who require daily recitation of Kaddish for 11 months after burial, followed by an annual recitation in perpetuity.

Each program requires a tax-deductible donation to Hadassah: $1,000 for the perpetual yahrzeit, and $5,000 for the enhanced yahrzeit. Payment plans are available.

If you are interested, contact Lexington Hadassah member Randi Gaiser at gaiserr13@gmail.com.

FROM TAI PRESCHOOL

Katherine Henry, Director

We are having a wonderful time in Preschool this year! We are busy learning and playing each day. We have made great friends and we love coming to school every day.

We enjoyed another fantastic day in the pumpkin patch at Bi-Water Farm in Georgetown, plus we went on a hayride and fed the goats, pictured below. The weather was great, and a good day was had by all. We also enjoyed meeting with parents for parent/teacher conferences. It is amazing to see the progress the children already have made since August.

We are now ready for a fun-filled November. Our 4-year-old/pre-K class will be discussing nursery rhymes, learning about the first Thanksgiving and ending the month with Dinosaur Fun.

We will have our annual Thanksgiving Feast and share many traditional Thanksgiving foods. We will have turkey, mashed potatoes, fruit, corn and muffins. Our students will dress up as Pilgrims and Native Americans. We will take lots of pictures and share them on Facebook.

Preschooler Lydia Allen fed very eager goats at Bi-Water Farm.

FROM THE RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

Kristen Hoffman and Jori Sussman, Co-Directors

After a busy September start to Religious School, teachers and students spent the month of October getting to know each other and learning together. The month culminated with a visit from Becca Leaman, TAI's Fellow from the Institute of Southern Jewish Life (ISJL). Becca helped us plan a fun Pajama Tot Shabbat, participated in Family Service and prepared curriculum for our lower school students. We are grateful for ISJL's partnership and all of the resources and support it provides throughout the year. Becca's next visit will be Feb. 22, and we are planning a parent program for that weekend.

Coming up, the Global Day of Jewish Learning will be Nov. 11 at Ohavay Zion Synagogue. We are looking forward to the opportunity for our students to attend classes and workshops with their peers at OZS. Religious School students should meet at OZS at 10 a.m. for the start of our joint program. This year's theme is Extraordinary Passages: Texts and Travels. We hope adults and kids will participate in this important event.

Later that week, on Nov. 16, Tot Shabbat and Family Service will be held. Students beginning their formal Jewish education will celebrate Consecration at the service. We welcome the entire community to support the youngest and newest members of our Religious School community. The schedule will be as follows: Tot Shabbat (geared toward children up to 6 years old) will begin at 5:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 6 and services (geared toward families with children in elementary school) at 7. Please RSVP to Kristen Hoffman at kristen@lextai.org for Tot Shabbat or Family Service.

Thank you for your continued support. Please contact Kristen Hoffman (773-425-2005 or kristen@lextai.org) or Jori Sussman (jori@lextai.org) if you have any questions about Religious School.

Friday, Nov. 16

and Consecration at 7

For dinner, please RSVP to the Temple office (269-2979 or laura@lextai.org)

Here and there with LEXTY

FUND FACTS

Over the years TAI congregants have established funds to support specific programs or for specific purposes. Each month, FUND FACTS will present a snapshot of a fund to familiarize congregants with TAI's resources.

In her will, Jane Bolotin, a long-time TAI congregant who died in 1966, provided for creation of a "general purpose endowment fund for permanent improvements to the Temple property and facilities, whether located at the present site or elsewhere." Jane's expressed intent was for her fund to supplement money from the temple's General Fund or other endowment funds in achieving permanent improvements at TAI. The fund allows the spending of income and corpus.

Recent expenditures from the Bolotin Fund, which is under the guidance of the TAI board, have paid to repair the Temple's doors, including painting, and update the office phones and computers. The balance of the Bolotin Fund on July 31, 2018, was $68,211.60, of which about $21,583 constitutes accumulated income.
